JANESVILLE VISITOR DROWNS IN RIVER

ABANDON HOPE FOR IMMEDIATE ENDING OF COAL STRIKE

OPERATORS THINK THEY CAN OPERATE WITH U. S. AID.

MINERS SANGUINE

Not Alarmed by Prospect; Think President Victim of Strategy.

Washington.—All hope of an immediate settlement of the coal strike has vanished, A. M. Old, head of the National Coal association, has left Washington, and, besides, Harding, while cognizant of the various informal overtures which have emanated from the miners, is not yet determined on any peace move.

The operators believe that, with the help of the government, they can break the strike and deal him a body blow. Until they are convinced of the accuracy or inaccuracy of their predictions, nothing tangible can be expected in the way of negotiations. Just as confident are the union officials that just enough coal will be mined to avert a dangerous crisis for the nation next winter.

State Laws Prevent. In support of the miners' contention, news has already come from Indiana and Illinois that state laws will prevent the opening of the mines on a big scale. Workmen have to be licensed before they can work in mines. This measure was originally taken to safeguard the health of employees and to insure the safety of those already working in the mines. State boards, consisting mostly of union men, must issue the licenses, and in some instances a continued residence in the state is required.

In the face of this situation little hope is entertained that Indiana and Illinois can mine much coal. The real fight will come in Pennsylvania and Ohio. John Lewis, head of the miners' union, is sure the miners in Pennsylvania will refuse to go back to work—he insists they will be aggravated at the mere sight of troops.

Hague Conference Suddenly Ended

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Hague.—The Hague still was gasping Thursday over the sudden developments in the conference on Russian affairs and the precipitate decision of the European delegates to terminate the gathering immediately after Maxil Litvinoff, head of the Soviet delegation, had offered to submit to Moscow the question of recognizing the validity of Russian war debts and the principle of compensation for nationalized foreign property.

For a few minutes Wednesday, a large section of the non-Russian delegations, headed by the English, seemed ecstatic over Mr. Litvinoff's proposal to waive Russia's claim for credits from the Allies, powers and seek recompence from the Moscow government on the long delayed question of property rights of foreigners.

But when non-Russians met later without the Soviet representatives they immediately turned down the Litvinoff's proposal and decided to snuff out the conference. Thursday with the formal presentation of reports from the sub-committees on credit, debts and foreign property confiscated in Russia.

Rich Stepfather of Star Insane, Will is Broken

Los Angeles.—Gloria Swanson's stepfather was mentally incompetent when he made a will leaving the bulk of his $100,000 estate to Gloria's mother, the jury in Judge James C. Rivers' court decided. In other words, the relatives of Andrew P. Burns, who tried to break the will on the ground that Gloria and her mother had "vamped" him, and that he was insane, were upheld by the jury of 10 women, and two men.

Attorneys for Mrs. Burns, the defendant, congratulated the attorneys for the relatives. The jury—women—they have enjoyed the trial immensely—congratulated all the lawyers on their excellent talks.

But the case isn't over, yet. Attorneys for the widow say they will either demand a new trial or ask for an appeal. They are confident that if an appeal is taken, the supreme court will act in the clients' favor.

U. S. Vessel Has Narrow Escape

Chant, China.—A floating mine, evidently intended to blow up the Chinese cruiser on which Sun Yat Sen, deposed president of south China, is making his headquarters, exploded in the harbor of Weihaiwei within 50 feet of the United States destroyer Tracy. The Tracy was shaken, but is said to be undamaged.

ROADHOUSE CLOSING, RULE CONSTITUTIONAL

Milwaukee.—The county roadhouse closing ordinance, ordering all resorts to close at midnight, is constitutional, it was ruled by Judge G. N. Risiord of Ashland. The ordinance, enacted several months ago by the Milwaukee county board, was attacked by representatives of various townships on the ground that it usurped their power.

Morgan Talks on Farms and Taxes

Pratt du Sac.—William J. Morgan, candidate for governor, talked chiefly of his program and the burden of taxation caused by ever-increasing boards and commissions, in his address at the State fair here yesterday. The great changes in the principal occupations of the state were advanced by the candidate as reasons for favoring a semi-annual plan for payment of taxes.

In three days time there were 12 persons inquiring about it. The machine was sold to a party who called on the second day.

This occurred only a few days ago and the chances are that the other 11 people are still in the market.

Why don't you offer them the one you have for some reason or other discussed?

Eyes of Country on Operators in Coal Mine Crisis

BULLETIN.

Bellair, O.—Charles J. Allison, secretary of the Pittsburgh Coal Operators' association, which has control of mines producing more than one-third of all coal mined in Ohio, Thursday said members of the association would not attempt to reopen the mines "under President Harding's protection plan."

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington.—The center of development in the coal strike was steadily shifting Thursday away from Washington and out into the coal fields where the policy of the government involving reopening of the mines under state or federal protection will be tested.

Reopenings were yet to come from several governors to President Harding's appeal for cooperation in insuring the nation's fuel supply, but White House officials expressed gratification over the responses thus far received. Only Governor Morrison of North Carolina of the 19 governors who had replied up to noon today, refused absolutely the cooperation the president asked. It was pointed out by officials.

Operators Return Home.

Most of the operators who came to Washington to participate in the settlement conference called by President Harding, but which failed, have returned or were on their way home.

Those remaining with them the president's invitation to reopen the mines asked the labor that applied for work.

John L. Lewis, chief of the United is not yet determined on any peace move.

SWEDISH SHIPPING REACHES HIGH MARK

Stockholm. — Less than eight percent of Swedish shipping is now idle, according to the latest report of the Swedish Shipowners' Association. This report shows a sharp contrast to conditions a year ago, when in June Swedish shipping depression reached bottom mark with over 44 percent of the country's total tonnage idle and nearly 46 percent of the men employed laid off. The report of the Shipowners' Association covers only its membership, but virtually all the country's shipping is owned by members of the Association. The recovery of Sweden in shipping is based largely on the country's approach to normal in many of its most important industries and the rapid increase in exports.

Poison From Air ENDS TREE PESTS

London. — A farmer in Kent, with a 50-acre orchard, has solved in a new way the problem of ridding his fruit trees of a plague of caterpillars. He engaged a flying machine and loaded it up with a half ton of insecticides. The machine flew to and fro over the trees a height of from 16 to 30 yards, scattering the poisonous powder. In half hour the job was done and the proof quiet, clean and cheaper and much more effective than spraying the trees from the ground.

SET NEW MARKERS ALONG HIGHWAYS

City, Village Information Signs Placed — Progress on Roads.

When motorists traveling on Wisconsin trunk highways reach the outskirts of Janesville and other towns and villages throughout Rock county, they will know where they are, long before many of them use to, through recent work of the county highway department in putting up signs furnished by the state highway commission.

The signs for this city read "Janesville." Population 13,923." Comment on Wisconsin highway marking system is a stream of continual praise from residents of other states where the different marking systems of each county get them in trouble. "Wisconsin has taken another forward step in signs identifying the various cities, towns and villages and Rock county is one of the first to get the signs erected.

Janesville is well posted, there being one sign on trunk highway 100 and two each on No. 10 and No. 20.

Rotardale Camp to End Saturday

The last period for boys at Camp Rotardale will close Saturday, when 40 boys now there will return home after ten days' outing. The first of the four girls' periods will open Wednesday when 42 grade school girls attend.

A long hike was recently taken by the boys now at camp, Fred Hyslop says. All the boys went but John Nolan and Fred Allen, who were suffering from small bruises.

We left camp at about ten o'clock and hiked part of the way around Green lake and then started back around Middle lake. At about 11:30 we reached the Nott cottage and stopped there while several small cuts and bruises were attended to.

Bronco Hafferman, O'Donnell, Hy-

hop and A. C. Preston went swimming in the springs there. The water there is pure spring water and they declared it to be colder than the coldest pump water.

"From there we hiked about two miles further and then had lunch. The hike was made easier by the fact that it had been taken by the first period group and the way was better understood by the leaders and several short-cuts were taken. Camp was reached about 3:30.

The launch was secured, running Tuesday afternoon and brought over to camp in the evening by Captain Gandy. Everybody is waiting for a ride in it.

Parker Putnam is still keeping up his record for going under the pump. Yesterday Gordon Puglow was the last to come out from the dip so the pump was turned on him. But then it was discovered that Parker was just coming down to take his dip, so he got his dose.

Francis Hafferman is the mumble-de-peg champion of the camp. He is able to beat anybody here and declares that he has never been defeated. The editors of the Nuisance from Monday to Friday were Van Paul, Kramer, Lewis, Putnam and Moore.

YEOMEN PLAN HOME NEAR APPLETON

It is proposed to establish a village of 125 cottages, with schools, churches, gymnasiums, stores, parks and playgrounds, where children and families of deceased members of the lodge can be cared for.

BULGARIAN KING LIKES AMERICANS

Son, Bulgaria. — King Boris would be glad to have American tourists visit this country.

I have met most of the Americans who have been here since the war," said Boris to The Associated Press correspondent, "and so far as I know every one has liked our people and the scenery of our mountains. Indeed, I wish more Americans would come here on business and stay with us."

King Boris makes it a point not only to receive in audience Americans who have been here since the war, invites them to visit him at his country home, or else to travel and hunt with him.

Making Linens Last Longer

What Is News to Women Has Been Known by Experts for Years

By DOROTHY VERNON

Have you ever wondered why your clothes and linens don't last as long as your grandmother made her soap?

The old white or yellow laundry soap today is only part soap. The rest is just "filler" in 27% of them. GREEN ARROW laundry soap—the large greenish bar—made by the Palmolive Co.—is the only all-soap, pure soap bar among the lot.

Imagine using up your precious energy to wash clothes "filler" dry. The water glass crystallizes and cuts the threads. Other kinds of "filler" simply rot them.

You discover thin spots, splits, holes and frayed edges and wrinkles in old clothes don't wear as well as they used to.

They ought to wear for years as our great-grandmother did until you use pure laundry soap like GREEN ARROW—green because it contains olive oil. But don't mix washing powders or soaps with it. Just wash them separately with olive oil soap to whiten the fibers and give them that cuddly softness and sweetness they have when new. GREEN ARROW is all soap, hence it has cleaning power. That is why a bar goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary. And there's nothing milder than olive oil soap to wash and materials. Ask your grocer for it.

GUARDS IN EXTRA DRILL FOR CAMP

Schedule Announced for Troops' Entertainment, July 31.

Intensive training in preparation for two big weeks at Camp Douglas is in progress this week with both national guard units here and will continue through next week.

Capt. Gilman H. Stoughton, of the 53d Cavalry, headquarters troop, is here, arranging special drills for Tuesday night and Sunday morning and Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday of next week. The tanks are also putting in overtime work under Capt. R. D. Harmon.

Both the cavalry and tank units will go to Camp Douglas on the same train in company with cut-offs from "Delavan," Edgerton, Stoughton and Mauston, according to the entrainment schedule just announced by Lieut.-Col. Charles R. Williams.

The train will leave Janesville at 7:10 a.m. Monday, July 31, over the St. Paul road, arriving in Camp Douglas at 12:55 p.m.

List follows from Herk:

Following is the schedule announced:

The "local cavalry" company's 22 horses are already in camp having been shipped along with 32 animals of headquarters troop, 2nd cavalry division. Madison, Pa., contingent of horses will remain in camp until the end of the period, August 15, allowing every member of the Janesville troop to be mounted as the Madison guardsmen will return home July 30.

The four tanks will be shipped from Janesville Friday. Arrangements have been made for shipment of the Delavan company's four tanks.

Bjotz headquarters company of the First infantry will go to camp on the Wisconsin River with the Janesville units although no different train, leaving at 4:50 a.m.

In addition to the companies mentioned above, other units will be at Camp Douglas from July 31 to August 15, as follows: Dodgeville, Madison, Baraboo, Teesburg, Prairie du Chien, Viroqua, Racine, Milwaukee, West Allis, Oshkosh, Ripon, Wausau, Gillett, Rhinelander, Clinton, New London, Abbotstown, Stanley, Superior, Spooner, Ledsom, Chetek, Menasha, Sheboygan, Jefferson, Lake Geneva, Platteville and Crandon.

Champ Optimist Wins Long Fight

St. Louis—Arthur E. Rump, familiarly known as "champion optimist" of St. Louis, apparently has won his long fight for a pension for injuries sustained a score of years ago while a postal clerk here.

Rump gained his sobriquet because of his good humor and steadfastness despite his suffering, caused in 1902 when he was struck by a postal sack while working on the job. He now suffers his spinal trouble, derived originally from the joints. Total paralysis of the body set in in 1909 and Rump has been bed-ridden since. The only part of his body that he can move is his jaw, and that only about a quarter of an inch.

Rump was granted $2,000 in a lump sum several years ago, and because of this award, his fight for a pension was contested.

The house finally passed a bill granting him a life pension of $100 a month. The senate, it was said, likely will accept the house bill, it having passed a bill sometime ago granting him $87.

Despite his infirmities, Rump has been earning money by soliciting magazine subscriptions over the telephone, having a special apparatus over his head.

MILLION COWS IN ICE CREAM BUSINESS

Chicago—The "urban" who eats an ice-cream cone and all others who consume this frosted sweet, are doing a larger share than is generally known in restoring prosperity and happiness to the farms according to Guy H. Hall, director of the National Institute of Progressive Farming.

"When I was a boy," said Mr. Hall, "ice-cream was a holiday treat. Now it seems to be an every-day commodity. In collecting data on the dairy situation, I learned recently that one million of the twenty-three million producing dairy cows in this country are so speak in the ice-cream business."

"Perhaps the dry law has something to do with it, but in any event this increased farm revenue is even now reflected in increased sales of farm lighting plants, tractors, power driving implements, automobiles and the like, which are doing so much toward making farm life more agreeable and prosperous. And the sweet tooth of the public is doing its bit in this direction."

"The Valley Incomparable" is one name for Yosemite Park. The sheer immensity of the cliffs will stare you and please you. The Yosemite falls drop 1,430 feet. No wonder it is that most winter vacationists as this information on Yosemite furnished free by the Gazette travel bureau.

AIR STATION UPON THAMES PROPOSED

London—The air ministry is about to carry out experiments for establishing an air station on the Thames, and test flights will begin before long. The station probably will be near the House of Parliament and when in use will save the journey by motor car to Croydon aerodrome, thus shortening by an hour the journey by plane from London to Paris. The ministry also has approved a scheme for an air service between Southampton and the French ports of Cherbourg and Le Havre. The main object of the plan is to shorten the Atlantic plan by picking up passengers from Cherbourg, conveying them rapidly by air to Southampton, and thence onwards to London by train.

LONDON OPEN TO HAVOC FROM AIR

Innocent Question in Parliament Starts Rumpus Over Situation.

London—Britain is declared again to be in dire peril. She is described as in a dangerous state of unpreparedness against air attack. Experts contend that London could be laid in ruins from the sky within 24 hours. Many facts and figures are given by various newspapers to prove it.

Britons and Londoners especially are told they should be as badly scared as they wouldn't sleep soundly in their beds again until something was done to set matters right. But the stolid Britisher refuses to be scared for anybody or anything. His rejoices that it has temporarily stopped raining and that the last two days of the Ascot racing were gloriously fine.

QUESTION STARTS TROUBLE

But there may be so serious trouble brewing for the government over the state of the country's air defenses. Major-General "Seely" started the trouble as trouble is often started here, by asking a question in parliament as to how the country was fixed for airplanes in case of war.

The reply of Captain Guest, air minister, was not exactly calculated to make nervous people feel comfortable. He said that while the country in 1920 had 180 civil airplanes fit for war it now had only 83 and these were of 28 different types. This year there are only 12 machines actually flying in regular service.

The Air League of the British Empire, which aims to do for the air force what the Navy League does for the navy, has in the last few days taken a chance to do some effective propaganda work, and issued a statement of which this is the gist:

"12 SLENDER GUARDIANS
The total strength of the Royal Air Force in these islands is 12 squadrons, of which a percentage are skeleton formations.

No provision has been made to insure that civil machines and personnel shall take part in the aerial defense of the country in case of war.

France has at present 126 squadrons of airplanes and will have 200 squadrons by the end of the year.

Boeing, the force she has at present, several hundred civil machines unmarked for use in case of war.

The French aircraft industry is turning out 150 machines per month.

"Twenty-one years ago Ward Baker, a struggling student, having been apprehended repeatedly by the Chicago police as a street fiddler, went to the chief of police and asked for a permit to play in the streets. The chief said, 'You all know whether your player will give pain or pleasure?'

Mr. Baker was reported, answered by playing "Archie Laurie" before the chief. The permit was granted. Mr. Baker said he was the only licensed street musician in the country. "I suppose that title still holds good," he said today.

"A few weeks ago Ward Baker, he said, since grown gray and who has studied and performed with musicians in his spare time, from the Chicago College of Music, was taken into custody by police in Oak Park for playing in the streets.

"As in the four other cases," he said, "I was released after the police understood. This time a wealthy resident intervened. I have a license in Oak Park, now."

"I play only for the people. I have played for 14,000 of them on the vaudeville stage in department stores, in apartment houses, in homes of the poor, in streets and alleys. There are many potential music-lovers who feel debarred from concerts by the vague and technical gymnastics, but really music, and I mean music of beauty and dignity, belongs to the common man. I believe in the direct appeal of simple and beautiful music.

N.Y. PICKPOCKET IS CLEVER INVESTOR

In associating rascals.

New York—The modern pickpocket in New York is a speculator. He invests a little change in the hope of getting large returns. And here, according to that fountain head of information, the police, is the way he does it: Having selected a potential victim, the pickpocket drops a coin in front of him. Then while the stranger's attention is solicitously inquiring if perhaps he did not drop the coin, More often than not the stranger has, and stoops over to pick up the money. Whereupon the pickpocket lifts the wallet from the stranger's hip-pocket.

This does not mean a permanent shade for the whole head.

PLAN 3,200 DESKS, CHAIRS, FOR H. S.

Evansville
Mr. L. P. Miller, Phone 308-2.
Correspondent.

Harmony in Style, Color, to be Feature of New Equipment.

All equipment for Evansville's new high school will be of the most up-to-date nature. Specifications prepared by the architects, Van Ryn and DeGolde, of Milwaukee, show harmony to be a predominating feature of the furniture to be installed. All details concerning the blackboards, seating and desk work and library equipment, for which the board of education is now advertising for bids, are given in specifications on file at the office of Sept. 1st. No bids have been received.

The 7,000 square feet of black boards must be of excellent slate, with no defects, four feet high and must have a backing. Those installing it must pay all expenses of the installing and for any damage done to the floors in doing so.

HARD MAPLE DESKS

All the wood for the desks and seats must be of hard maple. Slabs are asked for on 12x18 inch charts to be placed in the main floor of the intended auditorium; 250 Auditorium balcony opera chairs with disappearing theater arm, the balcony is to be used for a "study room" in case of necessity; 575 student "study" desks with top and seats; 280 study desks and seats with top and box for books; 75 tablet arm chair; 150 tablet arm reading chairs; 150 loose or movable 270 loose chairs of a type suitable for seating students at physics or biology tables; 125 loose chairs of a type suitable for music room purposes; 65 teachers' desk chairs, general and swivel types.

Samples must be sent to the board of education of all types of these chairs. The plan is to accord with those asked for by the architects.

Advertisement for Library

Specifications for the library equipment are most minute and a picture of the appearance of the room is seen on reading them. They call for a charging desk including card drawer and trays and a cash drawer; tables, a display case, atlas, typewriter desk, book truck, office and work room shelving, card catalogues, chairs and bookshelves.

It is hoped to be able to open bids on all this equipment by July 28.

Contracts for the laboratory tables have already been let.

CLAMP PRESSURE ON REBELS' LINES

Reply to Feble. The report from rifles and Thompsons was still true, and it is believed the city is highly held, but the natural strength of the position may make the dislodgment of the irregulars a matter of difficulty.

At Limerick fighting was progressing "Wednesday night." The nationalists launched a heavy attack on the O'Meara factory, but so far as known the irregulars are holding their position. In the center of the city, where the irregulars are strongly fortified, the drive was particularly heavy. The casualties are estimated at 20 killed and 40 wounded, a considerable portion being civilians.

A statement issued by the Irish provisional government on the military situation says the national army forces now are supreme in the whole of 12 counties.

No Compromise, Stearns

"They still have opposition to deal with," he says. "In Donegal and Sligo and some hard work done in Galway, Limerick, Cork and Mayo are in subjection to the irregulars. The other subjection is used advisedly, for in those counties the people are overwhelmingly in favor of the Anglo-Irish treaty, and the irregulars rule there by no other authority than that of armed force. The election results showed this clearly."

The statement, issued in view of reported suggestions for peace based on compromise with the irregulars, continues:

"The safety and future welfare of the nation depend on the power of the irregulars being broken down. Peace built on compromise with forces that behave as the irregulars have behaved would be a peace too costly for the Irish nation."

REPUBLICANS SEIZE FOOD OF CIVILIANS

Belfast.—Alarming accounts of the situation in Kingstown or County Down as it is now known, reached Belfast in dispatches. Tullamore, while Waterford, Cork and Mayo are in subjection to the irregulars. The other subjection is used advisedly, for in those counties the people are overwhomingly in favor of the Anglo-Irish treaty, and the irregulars rule there by no other authority than that of armed force. The election results showed this clearly."

The statement, issued in view of reported suggestions for peace based on compromise with the irregulars, continues:

"The safety and future welfare of the nation depend on the power of the irregulars being broken down. Peace built on compromise with forces that behave as the irregulars have behaved would be a peace too costly for the Irish nation."

Minimum Wage for Women

BY FREDERIC A. HASKIN

Washington.—How much farther will a dollar go now than it would go in 1919? This sounds like a school boy's arithmetic problem, but it is causing all sorts of worry to gray-haired employers, earnest young store clerks and the bewildered public. So far, nobody's answer agrees with another.

The factions struggling with higher mathematics as applied to rent, summer dresses, and carfare are members of the minimum wage board and advisory conference in this city.

In Kansas, a similar group recently gave an opinion that a salesgirl can live on $11 a week. This rate has become the minimum wage there, but it is being fought by the women involved. Miss Alice MacFarland of the industrial relations court submits $15.83 as the minimum wage for Kansas, compatible with health. Employers insist living costs are materially cheaper than a few years ago, and that $11 is ample. Obviously, somebody's answer is wrong.

Most people regard these minimum wage contests in different states from a casual and impersonal point of view. The issue seems so remote—whether girls in stores and factories shall be allowed money to buy three shirtwaists or four in a year; whether a $25 suit should last them two years.

Yet the issue does concern the public vitally. It is pretty well proved that the girl who is healthy, properly fed, and reasonably contented is the worker who is cheerful and efficient. A salesgirl's grouch is more often due to a poor lunch or financial worries than to ingrown meanness. Then, too, the worker who does not make a living cannot spend, and this affects business.

But aside from any personal interest in the minimum wage, the public is being asked to take an altruistic interest in the matter. Women especially, and women's organizations are being urged to look into the minimum wage question, and to work for a fair deal for employer, employee, and the public. The Woman's Bureau of the labor department advocates this.

THE NAME THAT WILL LIVE FOREVER
Just as the Iron Brigade remains as a glorious memory to Wisconsin and the nation, so will the achievements of the 32nd division be forgotten. To Madison is given the privilege this year of entertaining this historic band of men who wrote chapters of imperishable deeds in the record of the world war. This division made its record as a purely American unit and thus permitted the allies to perceive what an American division was actually worth in fighting. It also permitted Germany to realize what an American division could do—a division made up of men who in greater part knew nothing of soldiering and had no training up to a year before.

"There are two divisions in the American army, perfect as fighting machines," said the French inspector. "One is the Thirty-second and the other 'Les Terribles'."

There will be little of the romance in the reunion of the 32nd, otherwise known as 'Les Terribles,' but when the men get together there will be joy at meeting old comrades, greeting fellow sufferers in trenches and at the front waiting for the trucks carrying the not so well known chow, and happy in having a chance once more to see what sort of fellow man it was who as a commanding unit scared the tar out of the Jerry's.

There may not be the romance in a great gathering of men in civilian clothes and lacking much in picturesqueness, but had Napoleon at Austerlitz or any other of his famous battles faced the enemy made each man a definite unit. "Use your head, old fellow!" was about the most important of instructions to the members of the 32nd. Wisconsin had brave men, hundreds of them, in other fighting units but the 32nd was so much a Wisconsin organization that we are justly proud to speak of it as "Our Own" Red Arrow division.

Great preparations are being made for the reunion at Madison. The date is August 11th and all Southern Wisconsin, next door neighbors to the state capital, will join in the splendid ovation being arranged for the fightin' boys of Wisconsin and Michigan and the guests."

Astounding as it may seem, Britannia does not rule the radio waves.

NO COWARDICE IN THE WHITE HOUSE
President Harding feels that he has an obligation to the 90,000,000 people of the United States dependent on the railroads and the coal mines for both transportation and fuel. He has taken steps to provide for both the operation of the roads and the mining of coal. And then he is going to the bottom of the matter and find who is to give way and why industrial peace has been destroyed.

It may be said here that the railroad ownership of the country which has been stagnating business and hampering a return to normal conditions by outrageous freight rates and making the cost of living slow to move downward, has a heavy responsibility. The roads have failed in whatever purpose they may have had in destroying the unions just as the coal operators of the central district have failed in that effort.

The public has arrived at a condition that it has largely one kind of sympathy and that is for itself.

These days too many people kick about even lodgings at home. It's just a good place to start from.

LORD NORFOLKE, THE GREATEST OF THE BRITISH PUBLISHERS
Lord Norfokke, the greatest of the British publishers, whose tremendous ability to organize and dominate his scores of interests, has been the most potent power in Great Britain, with his many publications, seems to have broken and been obliged to retire from active effort. Possessed of a constitution of iron, he nevertheless finally broke under the strain and his newspapers have passed out of his dominating hand. In his present condition he presents a tragic figure among the many of Europe who have been hurt by the war.

A few days ago there was a cable telling us all that the United States was to be paid something on account by Europe. It was too good to be true and so it is.

Another evidence of the demand for labor beyond the supply is the failure of employment agents to secure men for work in the woods. One large saw mill has closed down in the north part of the state because men enough could not be secured to get the timber on the cars at the skidding platforms in the woods. Offering of $40 a

KNOWING THE BOY

There's more to a boy than his meat and drink. There's more to a lad than a man would think. You may read a book in a single day. And know the tale when it's laid away. You may glance at a canvas wondrous fair. But you've got to stay close to the boy to know the sort of a man that Time will grow.

Now I thought him only a youngster small, Till he got me out for a game of ball. I'd heard him tell of the strides he'd made. But I thrived with pride when I came to know That boy could catch and my boy could throw.

And I watched him with wonder in my eyes, Gracefully taking the tallest flea.

I said to his mother when I came in. "Well, I've found a boy with a happy grin, And I've discovered a lad, tonight Whose eye is keen and whose heart is right. He has strength and courage and he can throw The way I could in the long ago."

"Who is this boy, who has caught your eye?" She asked. "He is yours and mine," said I.

There's more to a boy than his hats and shoes. And the thing you buy for his hands to use, I think, is more to a boy than the slightest whim. There's depth and breadth to the soul of him, growing up and up, and unless you stay Close at his side he will grow away.

But in all that he does if you watch him, You'll catch some hint of the man he'll be.

The strange and unexplained eccentricity of three wealthy, sedate and middle-aged brothers has caused OWEN MILES, detective sergeant, and his colleague, FREDERIC McREADY, known as "Drogo," to investigate on the request of PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of the youngest brother.

HOBART DRAKE is a Wall Street broker who startled his neighbors by appearing in the town square, clothed in a sheet and wearing a mask or cratian.

MILES, in the guise of a houseman, is employed at the home, and on his first night hears two brothers.

ROGER, the scientist, and ANDREW, the artist, are Australians, talking in loud tones. Roger, by making a burlesque of a scientific paper, and Andrew, by playing with toys on the piano, have equalled Hobart in eccentricity.

"I'm not going to endure it," Miles heard Roger cry. "There is no way out, quick and sure."

"You're talking like an ass and worse," Andrew interrupted, with sudden subdued fury. "Jorry's all right but you've forgotten Hobart's girl. Could she live down the fact that her uncle was a s---d?"

"You know what chance we have of getting what is coming?" Roger laughed in a strange falsetto which made the listening detective shudder in spite of himself and there was a quick movement within the room. "Pat had better live with the knowledge that one or both of her uncles—and her father as well—had died by their own hands than that all three of them were—!"

"Here! None of that!" Andrew cried. He had evidently thrown caution to the winds for his tones had risen to a bellow, and a door opened down the hall. Miles retreated quickly toward his screening corner of the wall near the back stairs but not before the sound of a sharp struggle came from the room where the brothers were, followed by an oath and the thin crack of shattered glass.

At the thought Miles sprung downstairs and darting out the window he concealed himself in the shadow of one of the great pillars. No one was in sight. Leaping from the porch he ran around the rear of the house to the other side. The pantry was dark now but two faint patches of light from Roger's room still fell upon the sparse grass of last year's lawn. In the glow of the farther one something glistened like a handful of diamonds.

Breathless! He had anticipated a pistol or perhaps even a knife of some sort but not a bottle!

Throwing himself flat upon his face the detective writhed inch by inch along the ground until he was close to the scattered fragments of the bottle and then he saw among them a number of tiny white tablets. Scratching a handful of the gravel and shells together Miles stuffed it into a pocket of his trousers and ran swiftly around the house again to the library window.

CHAPTER V

Carter was ill the following morning—a touch of sciatica—and the new houseman was forced to assume the more complex duties.

Under the kindly guidance of Pierre, he finished arranging the table for breakfast and then remastered the mail. When he had cleaned the lower half a short time before it had arrived, but now a small heap of letters and rolled circulars lay upon the table and he sorted them rapidly. There was nothing for Andrew Drake nor Miss Patricia, but a formidable pile of correspondence awaited Roger and several letters were addressed to Miss Dusha. There was only one envelope to place beside Hobart Drake's plate.

Miles noted idly that it was plain, with a typed address and a New York City postmark. Then he hurried out and returned with the fruit just as the elder Miss Drake entered.

"Good morning, William." She tilted her gray head normally. "I see you have made a good beginning, Methitabel, my maid, tells me that Carter is ill and you have assumed his duties."

He and Andrew entered almost

ONE TRICK A NIGHT

"MAKES TABLE-TALK BRIGHT!"

THE EGG AND THE BOTTLE

This is exceedingly simple, but those who are not familiar with the trick it is very puzzling.

Take an ordinary egg and lay it in vinegar for some time. After a certain period the egg will become soft and will bend lengthwise without breaking.

When in this condition the egg can easily be cracked through the neck of a bottle.

The trick can be made more mysterious by secretly removing the egg and putting it in cold water for a while. It will resume its former hardness and people will wonder how it could have been pushed through such a small aperture.

"Get me to the station as quick as you can."

The train was just pulling in as he drew up at the station platform. Miles noted the significant glances and nudges of the loungers as they recognized Hobart Drake and realized the humiliation which his young client, Miss Patricia, must have endured.

His thoughts turned again to her, the innocent victim of the mysterious calamity which had overtaken her people when after he had safely dispatched his wife to Scotland, he was bowling slowly back to the house. It did not come wholly as a surprise when he was hailed by an athletic

SUMMER COOKERY FOR THE HOUSE

It is a simple matter if you are one of the housewives who leave a town house or apartment every summer to take up residence in a country house.

Then all that you need to do is to take down window draperies and curtains and put them away clean and moth proof for the next autumn. Expensive rugs may be sent to be cleaned and left at the cleaner's insured against moth until you return.

If you remain in your winter quarters all or nearly all the warm weather then your problem becomes more complicated. And it is really possible by changing the arrangement of furniture and substituting summer curtains for those of winter and making some other changes in the furnishing of your house to produce an entirely different effect. Not only does it afford a pleasant change from the winter arrangement that you have become tired of but it offers the opportunity to have another pleasant change in the autumn when you go back to winter arrangements.

If you have carpets tucked down in your room, then by all means take them up at housecleaning time and do not put them back during the warm weather. No matter if the floors are old and worn. Fill in the cracks and paint them and then cover with rug rugs that may be bought very reasonably in the stores nowadays.

If you have hard wood floors to tell whether anyone loves you, and if so, who it is," whispered Sophie.

"What is it?" quizzed Sophie, absently fingering a new diamond ring. "Well, you take four or five chestnut name them each after some man you know, and then put them on the stove, and the first one that pops is a shot at him yester'day," related a neighbor. "They say he didn't have any clothes on and ran like a deer."

"H'm," said Sophie. "I know a better way than that."

"Do you?"

"Yes, indeed. By my plan you take one particular man, place him on the sofa, then sit close to him with the light a little low and look at his eyes. And then if he doesn't open, you'll know it's time to change the man on the sofa."

"I hear tell that a passel of fellers out hunting over yonder side of Mount Pleasant made a wild boy and took him naked it's their own fault."

INEBRIETY, HOME BREW DECREASING, SWEDEN REPORTS

Stockholm—Sweden's prohibition campaign now at its height has become largely a matter of statistics.

While the "dry" forces point with pride to the fact that they won a victory in the Riksdag when that body voted to hold a consultative plebiscite on the "wet" and "dry" issue on August 27 of this year, the anti-prohibitionists are quoting government statistics and the reports of medical authorities.

The reports of the government district physicians throughout all over the country are now being received by the Swedish Medical Board which recently went on record against total prohibition. Virtually all of the physicians report that drunkenness appears to be decreasing in their respective districts, and that in many parts of the country home-brewing is declining.

The royal social board's latest report shows that during the first quarter of this year there were no further deaths than those being only 5,200 cases of drunkenness reported throughout Sweden. The report sets forth also that during 1921 Norway and Finland, both prohibition countries were more wet in spots than Sweden with their liquor rationing system. Thus during 1921 Sweden's quarterly reports showed between 7,000 and 8,000 cases of drunkenness while prohibition Norway had about half of Sweden's population had an average of nearly 9,000 cases of inebriety offenses during each

DECISION of Great Britain not to enter the competition this year for the Davis tennis cup, held by the United States, is disappointing. England finds it has no players capable of meeting American competition. That is frank, to say the least, and proves that the Britons do not put much faith in the breaks of the game.

TURKS PREFER MAD DOGS TO CATCHERS

Constantinople—Constantinopolitan hordes of pariah dogs have by no means been exterminated. Thousands of them, owners and humans, roam the streets and constantly menace to pedestrians. More than 400 persons are now being treated in the Pasteur Institute here for bites from these vicious animals. A new campaign for their suppression has been inaugurated, but the Turks are proverbially humane and sympathetic to all animals and hesitate to put the dogs to death. Many of the beasts are being removed to the numerous barren islands in the Sea of Marmara, where they meet death by starvation.

Want Harness Class? Says Russia Had It

BY FRANK SINCLAIR

Ever hear of Neshchney Novgorod? It is a city in Russia. Until the time of the Bolsheviks uprisings, it was the greatest harness racing center of the Czar's empire.

Seated in front of the khaid tent at the side of one of the long stables at the side of the Jamesville fair, the racing grounds, C. A. Page, a trainer, harked back to pre-Armistice days.

But before going into the story—he is here with Louis Winters, owned by Haley & Dow, Madison and Wimie DeForest, the property of James Farley, Madison.

He will follow these horses around at Monroe, Madison and Elkhorn.

Drivers were equipped with an overall suit of rubber and wore knee boots. These rubber suits were perfected to such an extent that the colors of the stable were imprinted directly into the fabric.

Perfect neatness a feature was demanded by race officials according to Mr. Page. The driver had to appear with his sulky with his boots shined, his clothes immaculate, his sulky and harness shining. Violation meant getting off the track.

May Go Back

Regarding about the great Russian fair, he said that all the buildings were of brick. They were several hundred feet long and on each side had little stores—or stalls—for the sale of merchandise, particularly furs. Buyers from all over the world patronized them.

Russia was a great country before the revolution," said Mr. Page, who speaks the language fluently.

"Things are beginning to settle down now. I had a letter from my daughter last week. She enclosed her picture and she didn't look much as if she were starving. Perhaps I shall go back with my wife until he has taken a first in class.

Classed as Victories--

Classification is entirely different. In America horses are arranged in certain well-defined classes according to speed. Not so in Russia for its speedy flesh. Then they have—or rather had—in glasses. The green horse starts in Class 1. When he takes first money, he is advanced to the second class. Capturing first in the second, he goes to the third. And so on until he has taken a first in Class 11.

When the horse has gone through all divisions, he has won 55,000 rubles. On the day when rubles were worth something and not used for wall paper, that was a pile of cash. This was accomplished in the free-for-all.

This system gives entire satisfaction to track followers and assures classiness and classy races, says Driver Page.

Track building over there varies considerably from the American method of constructing an oval. In the first place, the miles is the shortest distance. The under surface of the track is solid asphalt. Upon it is laid gravel and sand. This is rolled, dug away with the need for scrapers and draggers. The times—2:05 1/2, 2:09 1/2, 2:13 1/2.
